About Tech StaQ

While working for international tech companies Tech StaQs founders saw the potential to make an impact by improving processes and automate some of them with one objective in mind: getting the right roles in front of the right people without spamming or burning bridges.

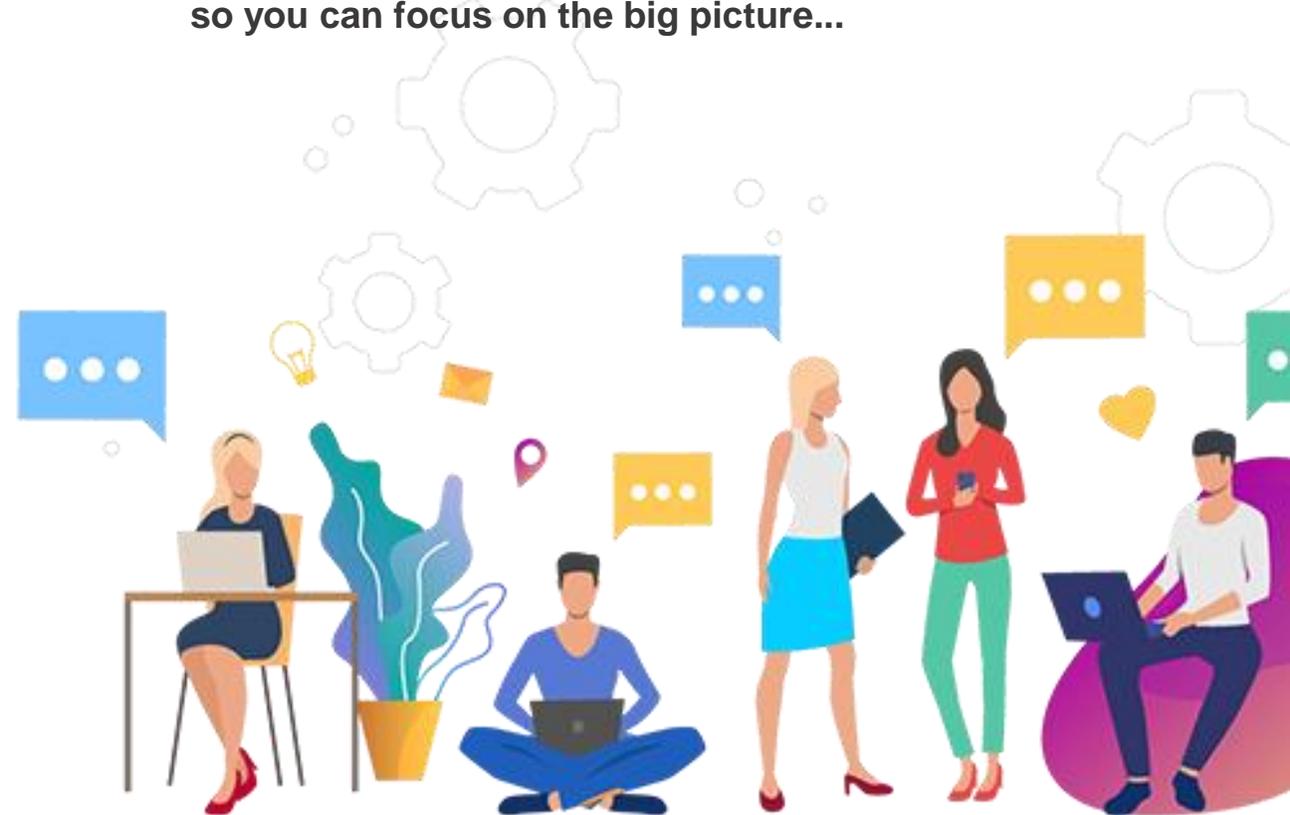

Since our founding in 2017 we have worked relentlessly to create more efficient solutions for our candidates and for our clients worldwide.

So Tech StaQ-ers are engineers, developers, consultants and tech recruiters who want to make a small difference in helping other techies find their next gig and offer our clients a specialised tech consultancy to go to. Having this mix of backgrounds is the added value for our customers – so we better know what our customers need and what our candidates want.

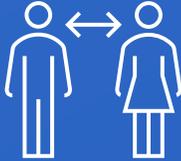

Imagine the magic this team can create having this skill set and make TS an truly unique consultancy!
